

3-2003

Books Received

Journal Editor

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarship.law.vanderbilt.edu/vjtl>

Part of the Constitutional Law Commons, and the Criminal Law Commons

Recommended Citation

Journal Editor, Books Received, 36 Vanderbilt Law Review 893 (2021)

Available at: <https://scholarship.law.vanderbilt.edu/vjtl/vol36/iss2/11>

This Book Review is brought to you for free and open access by Scholarship@Vanderbilt Law. It has been accepted for inclusion in Vanderbilt Journal of Transnational Law by an authorized editor of Scholarship@Vanderbilt Law. For more information, please contact mark.j.williams@vanderbilt.edu.

BOOKS RECEIVED

THE DISCONNECTED. By Penn Kimball. New York: Columbia University Press, 1972. Pp. 317. $2.95/Paperback. An unusual study about "the disconnected"—the minority poor of America who rarely participate in the political process. The author asserts that these groups are excluded by the current system of voter registration and foresees little future improvement in the situation until the federal government acts to qualify these eligible voters rather than relying on outmoded state regulations.

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION (2d ed.). Edited by Robert T. Golembiewski, Frank Gibson & Geoffrey Y. Cornog. Chicago: Rand McNally & Company, 1972. Pp. xxxix, 617. $6.95/Paperback. An inclusive reader for basic Public Administration courses. The readings discuss diverse classes of administration and draw upon other disciplines and resources relevant to administrative analysis.

THE AUSTRIAN-GERMAN ARBITRAL TRIBUNAL. By Ignaz Seidl-Hohenveldern. Syracuse: Syracuse University Press, 1972. Pp. xi, 261. $15.00. An analysis of the 1957 treaty which created the Tribunal, its dispute-settlement provisions, and a description of the substantive international law issues which were generated by the treaty.

CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS OF PRISONERS. By John W. Palmer. Cincinnati: The W.H. Anderson Company, 1973. Pp. xv, 710. A compilation of cases combined with materials which presents an overview of the American legal system followed by a focus upon specific problem areas of criminal law dealing with rights of the prisoner.

CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS OF THE ACCUSED: PRETRIAL RIGHTS. By Joseph G. Cook. Rochester: The Lawyer's Co-operative Publishing Company, 1972. Pp. ix, 572. $35.00. A hornbook treatment of criminal procedures leading to a suspect's trial. The author specifically deals with arrest, search and seizure problems, bail, and grand jury indictments.

CRIMINAL SENTENCES: LAW WITHOUT ORDER. By Marvin E. Frankel. New York: Hill and Wang, 1973. Pp. x, 124. $5.95. In the first part of the book, the author maintains that judges have little or no training in handing down sentences and wield their power like amateurs. In the second section, remedies are suggested for applying more rationale and less emotion in criminal sentencing.

CURRENT LEGAL ASPECTS OF DOING BUSINESS WITH SINO-SOVIET NATIONS. Edited by James T. Haight. Chicago: American Bar Association Section of International Law, 1973. Pp. x, 82. $10.00. A series of presentations dealing with the expanding American trade with the Soviet Union and the People's Republic of China. The book is intended to aid American businessmen and their lawyers in dealing with these previously unexplored routes of commerce.

THE DEVELOPING LABOR LAW—1971 SUPPLEMENT. Edited by Thomas G. S. Christensen, Patrick C. O'Donoghue and Evan J. Spelfogel. Washington, D.C.: Bureau of National Affairs, 1972. Pp. xiv, 166. $5.00. The book is designed as a compendium of the current state of the law and recent cases under and concerning the National Labor Relations Act of 1947.

ECONOMIC CONCENTRATION: STRUCTURE, BEHAVIOR & PUBLIC POLICY. By John M. Blair. New York: Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, Inc., 1972. Pp. xix, 742. $16.95. The author discusses the forces that caused the concentration of industry in America and current elements that are working against the further growth of industrial concentration. The author maintains that economic concentration conflicts with traditional notions of competition and the theory of the market place, but has become the rule in modern America.

IMPEACHMENT: THE CONSTITUTIONAL PROBLEMS. By Raoul Berger. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1973. Pp. xii, 345. $14.95. Investigates the historical antecedents of the impeachment clause of the Constitution and maintains the nonexclusivity of impeachment as a method for removal from office.

"OBSCENE" LITERATURE AND CONSTITUTIONAL LAW. By Theodore Schroeder. New York: De Capo Press, 1972. Pp. xvii, 439. $12.95. The author argues that all laws against obscene literature are unconstitutional restraints on freedom of expression. Originally printed in 1911, the book provides an interesting perspective on the legal, social, and philosophical issues that continue to beset the courts in obscenity cases today.

THE TIME-LIFE FAMILY LEGAL GUIDE. Edited by John Dille. New York: Time-Life Book, 1971. Pp. 400. $11.95. This volume is a comprehensive layman's guide to the law. The volume covers such topics of recurring importance to the layman as wills and estates, income tax, tort liability, and credit transactions.

PRISONERS IN AMERICA. Edited by Lloyd E. Ohlin. Englewood Cliffs, N.J.: Prentice-Hall, Inc. American Assembly Book Series, 1973. Pp. iv, 216. $6.95. Seven contributors debate the issues of criminal justice, harshly criticize the injustice and ineffectiveness of the present system, and suggest programs for making prison more beneficial to convicted offenders and more compatible with the aims of a free society.

WRONGFUL IMPRISONMENT. By Ruth Brandon and Christie Davies. Hamden, Connecticut: The Shoestring Press, 1973. Pp. 296. $12.00. A study of individual cases involving wrongful imprisonment with a general analysis of why it occurs both in England and other nations.